"The right of trial by jury, the Habeas Corpus, the Liberty of the Press, the Freedom of Speech, the Natural Rights of Persons, and the Rights of Property must be preserved."
Extract from the order of General Hancock, of November 25, 1867.

For Congress.
JAS. A. MCKENZIE,
OF CHRISTIAN.

In New Jersey and Connecticut will but do their duty will end well.

The Republicans have nominated Gen. S. S. Fy for Congress in Phil. Thompson's district.

Thomas Keene, the new tragedian, is creating a sensation wherever he goes.

Every Democrat will do his whole duty next Tuesday there is no doubt that Hancock will carry Kentucky.

New York is pretty certain and we only need twelve more votes, and we have six doubtful States to draw from.

The Democratic outlook in Connecticut and New Jersey is not as good as it might be, but we will have an even chance.

The Courier-Journal of Thursday published a list of one hundred and fifteen Union Generals who are supporting Hancock.

The Congressional race is between McKenzies and Feland. Cook is hardly in the race. He will not get a respectable vote in his own county.

The Greenback party has seen its best days. The vote this year will show that it is gradually and steadily retreating.

When the Republicans carry the State of Kentucky we may stop to consider the question, "Is the Democratic party dead?"

If Cook will make a few more speeches here he may be able to get enough votes to keep the county from going unanimously for McKenzies.

The famous Indian chief, Victoria, who has caused as much trouble on the frontier has been killed and his head scattered by a party under the Mexican General, Terrazas.

Garfield favors cheap Chinese labor on the Pacific coast. California will no doubt give her electoral vote to Hancock. The Democrats have an even chance in Colorado and Nevada.

Mr. Herman Looser, of N. Y., and Miss Rosa Looser, of Owensboro, were married at the latter city last week. It seems that in entering the marriage state both parties were married.

Next Tuesday is the termination of the great campaign of 1880. Let every Democrat hero in Christian give his vote at the polls for Hancock and McKenzies and help to swell the majority in the State to 75,000.

The Princeton Banner has been very much enlarged and improved since Capt. Allen got his new power press. We are glad to see this evidence of prosperity on the part of our esteemed contemporary.

Folk Johnson is "doing up" the Kentucky Press in the Sunday Argus. The first batch of biographical sketches are reproduced on another page this week. We shall publish them from time to time as they appear.

Democrats give Mr. McKenzies an increased majority. Show the world that there is at least one Democratic Gibraltar where Republicanism and Greenbackism are both set at defiance let the Second District do her duty.

Garfield favors the immigration of cheap Chinese labor. A Chinaman can live on rice and get rich on 25 cents a day. Can the workmen of the Pacific States afford to compete with such labor? This question is likely to cause California and Nevada to go for Hancock. So note it, be.

The Last Review.

The Presidential election will take place next Tuesday. Before a large proportion of our readers receive another paper the agony will be over. We will therefore in as fair and impartial manner as we can state the relative positions occupied by the two great parties. We desire to devote no one or to cause any one to be either depressed or elated over Democratic prospects. We regard the chances for success of the two parties as about even. If Indiana had gone Democratic there would be hardly a doubt of Hancock's election. As it is Garfield's chances were greatly enhanced. The tariff question has also been sprung to the disadvantage of the Democrats. The tariff question was not considered of much importance by the Cincinnati Convention, and the plank in the platform briefly expressed was "a tariff for revenue only." This is the great principle of Democratic doctrine, but the ambiguous way in which the Republican party expressed its position enabled it to raise the hue and cry about free trade, and in manufacturing States it will do harm to the Democratic prospects. The Republicans favor protection and the laying of heavy duties upon foreign imports in order to protect American manufacturers at the expense of the consuming masses. But for the duty on fine French cloths and other goods they could be bought here at the same prices, if not even cheaper than home-made goods of inferior quality. But in manufacturing States like Connecticut and New Jersey the Republicans are claiming that this free trade doctrine would destroy American industry, cheapen labor and flood the country with foreign imports. This question is being agitated in those States, and with the prestige of victory in Indiana the outlook is by no means as bright as it was a short while ago. Or had the Democrats in fact that Garfield is an advocate, being a member in the Club at England, its object the advance of trade and commerce. Hancock is the principle that would cripple his, and favors a fair and equal trade for all.

Even the spectacle of a free trade standing on a protection is exhibited in Garfield's policy. This is about the only allusion we find the politics in the East. The South, votes, and New York will give 173, or conceded. He needs 12 more votes in Jersey will probably furnish 182. Where will the other three come from? We do not count on Connecticut, so we must look elsewhere. If the Fusion ticket succeeds in Maine he can get them there, but we, while we do not give up all hope in Indiana or Connecticut either, look to the Pacific States for the other three. Garfield favors the importation of cheap Chinese labor, and that question is being raised against him to an extent that makes his chances of carrying those States look very doubtful. Nevada has but 500 Republican majority, and Mr. Fair is turning the State upside down in order to succeed Sharon as Senator. He is very wealthy and with his influence and the Chinese question the Democrats have a little better chance in that State. Oregon and California are also doubtful, and the two parties have about equal chances. Republican money may carry the day though and elect Garfield. The race is very close and in many States it is probable that the official count will be required to decide the election. There is one favorable feature about the matter though, if Electoral Commissions have to be resorted to again, and committees sent behind the returns, the majority in both houses of Congress will see that the fifteenth man is on the other side this time.

Garfield is a member of the Cobden Free Trade Club of England and yet his party are claiming that the Republican party is the party of protection. Hancock does not favor free trade but Garfield does. Will the manufacturers of Connecticut and New Jersey allow themselves to be misled in voting the Republican ticket upon the false and flimsy pretext that the Democratic party is a party of Free Trade. Garfield has advocated Free Trade in his speeches in Congress while Hancock has emphatically spoken against it.

We desire to mislead no one. The Presidential race is one of much doubt and uncertainty. There is no telling how several of the States will vote. If you have money to bet throw up "wet or dry" and decide upon which side you will stake your money.

The Republicans of this district have nominated Hon. John Feland. He is a man of ability and is universally esteemed by all parties, but he is not one who can beat McKenzies. McKenzies is as good as elected, but the other gentlemen can make the race for the second place.

The Union Democrat has closed its first volume, and its editor, Tom Cannon, announces that it is a success and that he has come to stay. We are glad to see it prosperous, as Cannon is a young man of talent and energy and deserves success.

In the families of two persons connected with the Democrat there have been Hancock babies born since the Indiana disaster—Louisville Democrat.

At this rate about how long would it take to repair the loss of the Democratic party in said disaster?

The condition of affairs in Tennessee is getting worse and worse. There is a strong probability that Hawkins, the Republican candidate for Governor, will split in between Wright and Wilson.

Some campaign poet has turned up here in Hopkinsville, to the extent of half a column in the Louisville Commercial. The production puts the author into the front rank of operative poets. The thread of the poem is to the effect that the Republicans carried Indiana in an election recently held in that State. Who is the Modern composer? Come, uncover, don't let your light shine under a bushel. Let the world know who it is that has so suddenly immortalized himself in the realms of poetry.

Wonderful Cures

MADE BY THE USE OF
DR. RAGLAND'S
"Lightning Relief."

HOPKINSVILLE, TENN., Nov. 25, 1878.
Dr. J. H. Ragland, Jackson, Tenn.:
Dear Sir—I desire to express to you my grateful feelings for the timely and permanent cure your celebrated Lightning Relief afforded me in a case of acute Rheumatism. The pain was so severe in my ankle and knee that I could only walk with great difficulty. I could not stand but I bought a bottle of your medicine for fifty cents and that night the pains according to directions the next morning the pain and stiffness were all gone, and I could walk as usual. I have had no return since, though it has been a month ago. Very respectfully, H. B. FULK.

JACKSON, TENN., Aug. 27, 1878.
I wish to state, for the benefit of those who suffer with Rheumatism, that I have suffered with this cruel disease in the most violent form, for two months, and had been treated by several physicians without relief. I was so bad off that for some time I could not get out of my house. I was induced to try Dr. Ragland's Lightning Relief, which made a permanent cure in my case. Four months have passed and I have not felt a symptom of the disease.
